

Planning staff training days for 2011 – 2012?

CEES is currently taking bookings for whole school staff training days on

Learning in the School Grounds

Programmes are designed to inspire teachers to use their school grounds for learning activities across the curriculum.

- ◆ Suitable for Teachers and TAs at Foundation, Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2
- ◆ An emphasis on practical learning activities in the “outdoor classroom”
- ◆ Subject areas including literacy, numeracy, science, geography and art
- ◆ Learning activities ranging from investigating habitats to patterns, poetry and pirates
- ◆ All activities may be adapted for use in any school grounds, and activities will be suitable for those working to a restricted (or even nil) budget.

Courses may be delivered either on the school site or at an “Away Day” using the wealth of resources at Stibbington Centre.

Great ideas for making maths more practical and relating learning to real life.

Teacher comments from recent training days:

Lots of very useful practical activities for outdoor learning that apply to many areas of the curriculum.

Very useful activities for engaging lower ability pupils with literacy.

I feel inspired to take my class outdoors.
