

EXTENDED WRITING IN GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY

A course for teachers and subject leaders of primary geography and history on Thursday 8 June 2017, 1.30 – 4.30pm

at Burwell House, CB25 0BB

Course leaders: Helen Johnston, Deputy Head of CEES and Primary Geography Adviser, and Andrew Wrenn, Independent History Consultant

Geography and History can provide the stimulus for a wide range of extended writing opportunities.

Whilst there is much emphasis on accelerating achievement in the core subjects it is important to realise the potential within geography and history to engage pupils in their writing.

This course will show how careful planning for stimulating geographical and historical enquiries can not only benefit these subjects, but also provide enriching contexts for pupils to enhance their attainment in English, and specifically in extended writing. It will explore how, with careful preparation, the depth and quality of writing can be developed and improved whilst also increasing and securing knowledge and understanding within geography and history.
